

I am surprised that the electronic oath of declaration form that I submitted with my patent application arrived unsigned. I am enclosing a signed oath of declaration so that the application can proceed. I am also reluctantly enclosing a check for $65.00 to pay the late filing fee.

I am indeed surprised that the form that was submitted did not have a signature. I am more surprised that if a signature is required that the program would accept the form with the signature missing. Because the program accepted the form I was confident that the form was complete.

I am hopeful that by pointing out this weakness in your program that the program will be updated so that future applicants will not have the same difficulty. I am also hopeful that once you realize that your program has a weakness you will be fair and return my $65.00.
